

My History and My Goal

Although I was raised in a Christian home and attended Christian schools right through college, I still ended up doubting the Genesis creation account and chose theistic evolution as the most likely explanation for life on earth. Now, having taught Earth Science for 40 years and having examined the evidence of evolutionists, I have returned to Biblical creation.

The facts of science do not discredit the Bible, but rather strongly support God's written account. I hope to demonstrate this to you in my seminars.

What I Teach Concerning...

Scripture (The Bible): God's Word to man is infallible and teaches that God created everything in 6 normal days.

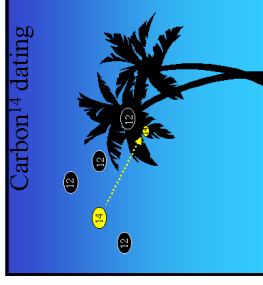

Evolution: Molecules to man: it did not happen.

The Pre-Flood World: Technology was developed, including the smelting of iron and tin ores. Civilizations flourished. Their remains are buried in the flood layers. Most articles have rotted or rusted away.

Noah's Flood: It was historical, global, and there were dinosaurs on the ark. Man and dinosaurs lived at the same time on the earth.

Age of the Earth: Young, less than 7,000 years

Radioactive Dating: Three assumptions about the rock samples make it so that none of these dates are "facts" of science. The different methods often disagree with each other and many proven examples of incorrect dates are recorded.

The Ice Age: It was caused by the Flood and ended roughly 4,000 years ago.

Ape-men: There were none. Biased interpretations of fossils, fraud, and incomplete data have led to unfounded claims of ape-like ancestors of mankind.

Mutations: Rather than creating new and better information in the genetics of living things, mutations produce negative or neutral effects, at best; and accumulated mutations result in the loss of correct information stored in the DNA of living things.

Natural Selection: It kills off those not well suited to the present environment: it creates nothing new. It is incapable of selecting against nearly all mutations and this is causing the genomes (DNA) of all organisms to degenerate—not improve.

Species: The Bible refers to kinds, not species. It is obvious that animals change from generation to generation but they change only within the limits of their kind. Degeneration of information will result in different traits; however, these traits result from loss of information and produce a less viable organism in the long run.

Creation / Evolution Compromises: These result in undermining confidence in the truthfulness and accuracy of the Bible, which undermines one's faith. Under close observation, none of the compromises are consistent with the entirety of the Bible.

The World-view of Evolution: This world-view (naturalism) has eroded the Biblical foundations of our culture, and resulted in many wicked practices and laws. The evolutionary foundation of these ideas must be exposed before we can understand and address the issues of our day.
